REPORT OF GROUP ACTIVIES

2019

ABOUT THE SICKLE CELL ANEMIA AWARENESS CAMPAIGN GROUP (SCAACG)

The Sickle cell Anemia Awareness Campaign Group (SCAACG) now Shem Sickle Cell Advocacy Foundation is an organization formed with the aim of creating awareness on sickle cell anemia as well as supporting persons living with the Condition. Since then, we have consistently organized series of programs to sensitize, and raise public awareness on the existence of sickle cell anemia as well as the preventive measures till Date. The pictorial evidence of our activities is aptly captured in this report.

VISION

To create a sickle cell free world through series of strategic public advocacy.

MISSION

1. To stamp down the spread of sickle cell anemia through public sensitization.
2. To support, celebrate and inspire persons living with the Sickle cell condition.
3. To provide sponsorships, relief materials and scholarship scheme to Persons living with sickle cell anemia.
4. To Sponsor free genotype test to the public, as well as encourage confirmatory test among people to address the issue of medical error.

STATEMENT OF MOTIVATION

My greatest motivation for the sickle cell awareness campaign is my cousin who lived and died of sickle cell anemia, seeing the kind of agonizing life he lived made me despite the fact that my area of specialty is not medically inclined, I had to develop myself into being a sickle cell advocate. More so, that I have so many friends living with the disease. Their plights painstakingly reminds me of my late cousin, who died in the world of rejection as he was rejected by his father. He only gets to live his entire life in the struggling arms of a lone mother without any sort of support considering our background.
